Teachers Corner

Hello Third Grade!

It's been a busy week! We will be moving into our learning cottages on Monday, September 23rd. Please bring in a small box or sturdy bag for your child's things this week.

I am so proud of how hard all of the class worked on their BOG and MAP tests. The results will be shared when we receive them! Have a great week!

Sincerely,
Mrs. Fink

What We Are Learning

Reading

We are investigating classic tales and elements of literature. Students are learning the difference between dialogue and narrative. They are also learning how to tell a characters point of view as well as how to determine the difference in point of view. They will begin drafting an opinion piece this week.

Math

Students will have a test on our first unit tomorrow. They will begin unit two on Tuesday where they will learn about mental math and rounding.

Science and Social Studies

The class is learning about rivers around the world. They will then complete an I class research project on a river of their choice.

Scholastic

I participate in Scholastic book club. Our classroom code is MJ7PZ. Your child will periodically bring home flyers. Orders must be placed online. When you order, I earn points that I use to build our classroom library. Be sure to email me if you place an order So I can put it through! 😊
